Welcome to Your NWTC Library

Your Study Sanctuary: SC215
✧ A quiet place for you to study, write papers, read, and relax
✧ Over 100 computers and printers
✧ 14 study rooms you can reserve

Your Help Connection
✧ Contact Julie Chapman at 498-5490 or julie.chapman@nwtc.edu
✧ Come to the Library Desk.
✧ Call the main Library phone number: 920-498-5493
✧ Click Ask a Librarian on the Library’s website to email your question or start a live chat with a librarian during our regular hours.
✧ Text a librarian at 920-288-2ASK (920-288-2275).

Your Link to Resources
Physical:
✧ Books, DVDs
✧ Journals, magazines, newspapers
✧ Anatomy models
✧ HP Laptops, iPads, Headphones, cables, and accessories

Virtual:
✧ 95,000 e-books
✧ 10,000 online videos
✧ Millions of full-text articles

Learn more at our website:
http://www.nwtc.edu/library
Frequently Asked Questions

What are the Library hours?

Fall and Spring Semester hours:
- Monday-Thursday: 7:30am—8:00pm
- Friday: 7:30am—4:30pm
- Saturday: 8:00am—2:00pm

Are there textbooks in the Library?

The NWTC Library has popular textbooks at the Reserve Desk that you can check out for 2 hours in the Library. You can get on the waiting list if the textbook you need is currently in use.

Where can I get help with MLA and APA citations for my works cited page?

Start with the Citation Guide
http://nwtc.libguides.com/citations

How do I renew my books/videos?

If no one else is waiting for them, you can renew your material (up to two times):
- At any NWTC Library, by calling 920-498-5493, or online at the Library’s website using Renew/View Your Account

How do I pick a topic for a research paper?

If your assignment is to write an argumentative paper or pick a controversial topic, a great place to start is the Current, Controversial Topics Library Research Guide
http://nwtc.libguides.com/current_topics

What is Library Search?

Library Search is the Library's single-search box (like Google for the Library resources). It finds articles, books, ebooks, videos, online videos, guides, and more!