Commencement Speaker

Jennifer Ross is the 2014 NWTC District Ambassador. The Supply Chain Management program graduate is employed in the purchasing department at Paper Converting Machine Company in Green Bay.

Ross is a nine-year member of the Army National Guard where she is currently an automated logistics specialist. A mother of three, Ross hopes her experience returning to college can be a helpful lesson for veterans and others as NWTC's District Ambassador.

Jennifer Ross
2014 NWTC District Ambassador

“My goal is not just to share my experience with current students, but to get out to the veteran population, the minority population and others to say, ‘if I can do it, you can do it,’” she said. “Nobody has to be afraid of whatever challenges they may have, because there’s a system here. You have an entire team of people rooting for you.”

During her time at NWTC, Ross pursued leadership opportunities across the College, serving as the secretary and Student Senate representative for the Student Veterans Association and Supply Chain Management Club. She was also a member of Phi Theta Kappa national honor society.

Ross’s impact at NWTC extended beyond the classroom. She was a team member on several prominent NWTC service-learning projects that combined community-service and hands-on supply chain management experience. “Chemo Ducks” provided stuffed animals and support to children with cancer, while “Patriot Smiles” unfolded over the fall 2013 semester with a series of projects to help active-duty service members, veterans and their families. She also has worked in fundraising and advocacy for Altrusa House in Green Bay.

The State District Ambassador Program recognizes and rewards outstanding students in the Wisconsin Technical College System. As NWTC’s District Ambassador, Ross will represent the College at functions throughout the year, including the WTCS Ambassador Program in Madison and events throughout the district.

Academic Regalia

Academic regalia had its beginnings in the Middle Ages. When the English universities were forming in the 12th and 13th centuries the scholars also were clerics. They adopted gowns similar to those of their monastic orders. Caps were a necessity in the drafty buildings, and capes with hoods attached were needed for warmth. These early scholars selected the hood as the article for distinguishing various degrees by color, trim, and binding.

The use of academic regalia in the United States has been continuous since Colonial times. A uniform code was not widespread until about 1895 when the well-defined code of the Intercollegiate Commission was adopted by all institutions of higher learning.

The cap, called a mortarboard, is usually square and is the same for all degrees. The standard tassel is usually black; however, colored tassels that signify the discipline are often used. The Doctor's cap may have a gold tassel. NWTC graduates wear a blue, teal and white colored tassel on their caps.

Gowns and hoods vary for different degrees. The Associate's gown is usually black with plain sleeves, though other colors may be worn. NWTC graduates wear blue gowns. The Bachelor's gown is black and has pointed sleeves. The Master's gown, also black, has longer, narrower sleeves that extend below the knee. The Doctor's gown usually is black but may be of a color representing the institution granting the degree. The Doctor's gown is faced down the front with velvet and has three velvet bars across the bell-shaped sleeves.

The academic hood varies in length according to the degree and is lined with the official colors of the institution granting the degree. The velvet border or edging of the hood indicates the discipline of the degree it represents; apricot-nursing; dark blue-philosophy; light blue-education; brown-fine arts and architecture; copper-economics; taupe-business administration; golden yellow-science; orange-engineering; pink-music; purple-law; russet-forestry; scarlet-theology; and white-arts, letters and humanities.

Honors Notation

 Highest Honors	(3.75 - 4.00 GPA)	{gold honor cord}
* Honors	(3.50 - 3.74 GPA)	{teal honor cord}

Associate degrees, technical diplomas, and certificates requiring more than 15 or more credits are eligible to receive honors notation.

Veteran and Service Member Recognition

Since World War I, challenge coins have been used as a way to honor, encourage, and reward individuals for their personal and professional accomplishments. A symbol of strength and commitment, these coins are given to NWTC's graduating service men and women. The College appreciates the sacrifices these students made while serving our country and their dedication to continuing their education. NWTC recognizes these students as an important part of the campus community and therefore awards them a special challenge coin. Graduates wearing the red, white and, blue cords are military veterans or are currently serving in the Armed Forces.

Global Designations

Northeast Wisconsin Technical College is committed to expanding the world view and global perspectives of students by providing opportunities to interact with international students and to understand various cultures from around the world.

The stoles you see with a flag motif either represent the home country of those international students who have studied at the College or the country students studied in while participating in an NWTC-sponsored study abroad trip or in an international service learning opportunity during their time at NWTC.

Phi Theta Kappa

International Honor Society of the Two-Year College

Phi Theta Kappa's mission is two-fold: 1) recognize and encourage the academic achievement of two-year college students and (2) provide opportunities for individual growth and development through participation in honors, leadership, service and fellowship programming.

The golden Honors Stole has been worn by Phi Theta Kappa graduates for more than 25 years. The Honors Stole is made of gold satin and finished with a blue Greek letter monogram.

Vision Statement

NWTC is a cutting-edge, lifelong learning college that transforms, strengthens, and inspires.

Mission Statement

We are a two-year technical college, serving Northeast Wisconsin by providing education, training, and lifelong learning opportunities for individuals and businesses leading to the development of a skilled workforce. Our customers stimulate the economic vitality of our district as a result of the application of skills and knowledge acquired through the completion of certificates, degrees, diplomas, and courses.
